

Chrome River Expense Report and Invoice Images Flow into ExpertImage

Integration gives full visibility of Chrome River images to ExpertImage digital image management solution

LOS ANGELES, May 4, 2011 -- Chrome River Technologies, Inc. and ATG's ExpertImage announced today that they have partnered to provide comprehensive ease-of-use and digital image exchange for online expense reporting and invoice management. Customers utilizing the Chrome River expense management system can now use ExpertImage's popular image management solution to enhance visibility of expenses to all necessary areas of the firm.

Chrome River's EXPENSE and INVOICE SaaS applications automate the complete expense reporting and invoice management process including the capture and storage of related expense receipts and invoice images. For customers who need these images to be replicated within their ExpertImage imaging repository for easy accessibility as well as inclusion in client bills or other workflow systems, ExpertImage offers an add-on automated integration solution.

"Our partnership with ExpertImage allows Chrome River customers to integrate expense image data directly with leading financial systems such as ADERANT Expert and others," said Dave Terry, Co-founder and COO of Chrome River. "This automation has proven helpful to our customers as it allows easy access to key expense and invoice images from multiple, integrated systems."

With a simple one-time set-up, ExpertImage automates a nightly process of importing all newly available expense and invoice images from Chrome River. ExpertImage then leverages its comprehensive suite of integrated applications to give visibility of the images to all authorized users within the firm. Once ExpertImage has secured the files, they are treated like any other document in the system, making them available in searches for supporting documentation in the firm's financial system.

"This integration with Chrome River is exciting to us because it continues our mission of being the most flexible and integrated digital imaging product on the market," says Mike Bowie, Principal at ATG.

ABOUT APPLIED TECHNOLOGY GROUP, LLC

Applied Technology Group, LLC provides complete digital imaging solutions for professional services firms world-wide. The premiere product, ExpertImage, can function as an independent solution or integrate seamlessly with existing management systems. On-going collaborative solutions with the most popular systems in the industry make ExpertImage easy to install and use. The experienced consultants at ATG improve existing paper based workflows to provide immediate cost savings and efficiency improvements. For more information about ATG, see the website at www.expertimage.com or contact the sales team at 253-351-8600.

ABOUT CHROME RIVER

Chrome River Technologies, Inc. provides expense reporting and invoice automation solutions that uniquely combine the latest available Internet technologies with over 25 years of financial systems experience. Chrome River delivers immediate payback via a "Software as a Service" delivery model that requires no hardware, no software, and no long-term commitment. This unique service is easily configurable to meet the needs of organizations worldwide with complex expense management policies and collaborative approval processes. Additional information about Chrome River Technologies, Inc. and its solutions may be obtained by phone at 1.888.781.0088 or by visiting the company website at www.chromeriver.com.